Edition released into the public domain, March 2010.

As such, it may be freely copied and performed.

Moderato [ $\text{♩} = \text{c. } 72$ ]

The musical score is written in G major (one sharp) and 3/4 time. It begins with a tempo marking of 'Moderato' and a metronome marking of approximately 72 beats per minute. The score is arranged in two systems of staves. The first system (measures 1-6) features a piano introduction with a treble and bass staff. The second system (measures 7-11) is the vocal entry, with a treble staff labeled 'Treble' and a bass staff. The lyrics are: 'O God, who hast prepared for them that love thee'. The third system (measures 12-15) continues the vocal line: 'such good things as pass man's understanding;'. The fourth system (measures 16-23) features a more complex vocal texture with three staves (soprano, alto, and tenor/bass) and a bass staff. The lyrics are: 'Pour in-to our hearts such love to-wards thee, pour in to our hearts such love to-wards thee, O'. The fifth system (measures 24-27) returns to the vocal entry: 'God, who hast prepared for them that love thee'. The sixth system (measures 28-31) continues: 'such good things as pass man's understanding;'. Trills (tr) are indicated above certain notes in measures 1, 7, 16, and 24.

The order of staves used here is the same as in the original. The following notes have been written out in full here, but are given as small grace notes in the original: bar 19, beat 1, soprano G#, tenor B; bar 35, beat 1, soprano G#, tenor B. The alto part is notated in the treble clef at the upper octave in the source.
